Collin County Council on Family Violence

Family violence has no home in Collin County, but hope does.

Mission Statement

The Collin County Council on Family Violence strives to eliminate and respond to family violence by a coordinated, comprehensive, effective effort, which includes education, prevention, intervention and seamless 24-hour assistance.

Council Members

The Collin County Council on Family Violence is a countywide collaboration between local government, law enforcement, the District Attorney's office, probation, the business community, social services, the faith community, educational districts, the legal community and healthcare. The Council, nearly fifty organizations strong, strives to effectively address family violence in our community.

History

The Collin County Council on Family Violence was formed in 1999 as an initiative of the Junior League of Collin County, formerly known as the Junior League of Plano. The Council initially acted as a steering committee and has subsequently grown to include representatives from entities throughout the county. Council members have collaborated over the years to accomplish the following noteworthy achievements:

- Community Coordinated Response Plan
- Public Awareness and Education Campaign
- Vision for the Collin County Family Justice Center
- Annual Facing Family Violence Conference
- County-wide family violence database
- The Violence Prevention Assessment Guide for Collin County
- County-wide need assessments for law enforcement, education and healthcare
- Education programs for faith leaders and their staffs, along with the development of resources for the faith community
- Collaboration with the Governor's Commission for Women to create a resource brochure for batterers through out the State of Texas

Current Committees

- Community Awareness
- Membership
- Professional Development
- Universal Diversity and the Law

Training Opportunities

- 12th Annual Facing Family Violence Conference – October 23-24, 2014 – designed to educate and train professionals and first responders in the field of family violence. Event will be held at Collin College Spring Creek Campus in Plano, Texas
- 5th Annual Interfaith Symposium for clergy and faith-based counselors will be held April 2015. Join us at Collin College's new PRC Conference Center in Frisco, Texas, for this inspirational and information-packed event
